Observations:

Mine Falls Park offers paddlers an opportunity travel up and back down a lazy river. To launch your boat, simply drive to the water's edge and drop your boats off at launch area. Depending on traffic, you can either leave your car in a few spaces near launch or drive back to YMCA parking lot. Once launched, you can only paddle left up the river as a dam is to your right. Note the wild marsh area on both sides of river. You can travel up the river as far as you like. There are some year round homes but also plenty of nature areas along the way. The current is very slow so it almost seems like you are on a still pond. You might see a few motor boats with fisherman but on our weekday trip last year we saw very few. I strongly suggest you also take some time to walk through the marvelous park trails that meander along the water's edge to left of launch area. You will see runners, walkers and just locals relaxing in the park. Mine Falls is a must paddle to get a round-trip river experience! See Park Trail Map on next page
